

Nina Sadigh, MD

Born and raised in Orange County, California, she ventured to the Midwest to receive her medical degree at the Western Michigan University Homer Stryker M.D. School of Medicine.

Afterwards, she returned to Southern California to complete her pediatric residency at the University of California Irvine/Children's Hospital of Orange County.

She is currently training at the Kaiser Permanente Los Angeles Medical Center as a second-year Allergy/Immunology fellow.